

Speaker 1: The penalties for not paying a New York City residency tax are generally going to be up to 25% of the unpaid tax more or less. There's always going to be interest, and there's going to be penalties. Generally, most of those things are capped at 25% of the unpaid tax. Whatever that unpaid tax is assessed to be, add another 25% to that.